Now Available: Online Demos of Electronic Tools

The U.S. Department of Labor, Employment and Training Administration (ETA) has released short, 15-minute video demonstrations of seven of their most popular online tools. Follow the links below to access the demonstrations to the following electronic tools:

- CareerOneStop
  www.workforce3one.org/view/3001205568622303690
- mySkills myFuture
  www.workforce3one.org/view/3001103836617055113
- Veterans ReEmployment Portal
  www.workforce3one.org/view/3001205569452743677
- Worker ReEmployment Portal
  www.workforce3one.org/view/3001205569189045405
- Healthcare Virtual Career Network
  www.workforce3one.org/view/3001210737024716856
- My Next Move
  www.workforce3one.org/view/3001205569677831751
- My Next Move for Veterans
  www.workforce3one.org/view/3001205569966013330

Find out how to make CareerOneStop data and tools available on any website.

Read more on page 3.

E-mail your feedback and comments to info@CareerOneStop.org.

Search for Jobs on CareerOneStop

Since November 2011, CareerOneStop users have been able to search for jobs at www.CareerOneStop.org/JobSearch.

Thousands of vetted job listings from across the United States are available to search by job name, keyword, or even O*NET code. And once users get their results list, they can sort and filter their jobs based on occupation, industry, location, or date posted.

Go to page 2 to find answers to frequently asked questions by users of CareerOneStop’s Job Search.
Question: Where do the job listings come from?
Answer: The job listings on CareerOneStop come from the US.jobs Network by the National Data Exchange, which is co-sponsored by the Direct Employers Association and the National Association of State Workforce Agencies. The listings are updated daily, and they include jobs posted on state job banks as well as by private employers.

Question: Why should I use CareerOneStop’s job search instead of another tool?
Answer: When you search for jobs on CareerOneStop you can be sure you are seeing jobs posted to state job banks as well as thousands of opportunities that are indexed from corporate job sites or posted by one of nearly 1,000 member companies. Most importantly, all of the job listings on CareerOneStop are vetted to make sure there are no duplicates. Every listing you see is a real job opportunity.

Question: What if I don’t find any job listings I’m interested in?
Answer: Once you’ve entered your search terms, you may find many more results than you can sift through, or you may find very few results. If your list of results is too long, you can narrow your job listings by occupation type, location, or date posted. Use the Refine your Search box to the left of your results. You can also use the arrows above your results to sort your job listings by company, location, or date posted--so you can see which jobs are most recent, or which were posted by a particular employer. If you’re finding too few results, try searching with a different keyword or job title. You might also want to increase your search location by selecting a state instead of a city or ZIP code.

Question: Can I post my resume here?
Answer: You can’t post your resume directly on CareerOneStop, but anyone may post their resume on their state’s job bank. Find and link to your state’s job bank at www.CareerOneStop.org/JobSearch/cos_jobsites.aspx.

Question: Can I post a job here?
Answer: You can’t post jobs directly on CareerOneStop, but any employer can post jobs on their state job bank or on the US.jobs Network. All of those job listings will be displayed on CareerOneStop. For more information, visit Four Options to Post a Job at us.jobs/postajob.asp.
solutions

The Competency Model Clearinghouse (CMC)

Curious how to apply industry competency models to your workforce challenges? Need help getting started? The CMC’s new User Guides provide background information, useful worksheets, real world examples, and recommendations for using models. Find them online at www.CareerOneStop.org/CMC/UserGuides. Topics include communicating workforce needs, identifying credential competencies, developing curriculum, performing human resource activities, and exploring careers.

Recent examples include:

- Ohio State University is using the Long-term Care, Supports, and Services Competency Model to identify core knowledge and skills for direct service workers and articulate clear career pathways resulting in stackable credentials (www.CareerOneStop.org/CMC/LTCSummary).

- Louisiana and Mississippi have collaborated to develop Coastal Restoration competency models, demonstrating the ability of models to reflect the workforce needs of targeted industry sectors and regional geographic areas (www.CareerOneStop.org/CMC/LSUSummary).

other resources

CareerOneStop Data is Available through Web Services

Did you know that any website can publish CareerOneStop data--and even re-use CareerOneStop tools--directly on your site?

CareerOneStop’s Web Services allow anybody to obtain a wide variety of career, employment, and education data directly from CareerOneStop and deliver it in your website’s own style to your own web customers.

Visit www.CareerOneStop.org/WebServices to get started.

coming soon

Look for updated employment projections data on all CareerOneStop and O*NET websites. The new data reflects new projections for 2010 to 2020.

Also, the scholarship opportunities in CareerOneStop’s Scholarship Search will soon be updated.

connections

events

CareerOneStop will be at the following conferences:

- American Library Association Annual Conference
  June 21 – 26, 2012
  Anaheim, CA

- National Council of La Raza Annual Conference
  July 7 – 10, 2012
  Las Vegas, NV

other resources

CareerOneStop Data is Available through Web Services

Did you know that any website can publish CareerOneStop data--and even re-use CareerOneStop tools--directly on your site?

CareerOneStop’s Web Services allow anybody to obtain a wide variety of career, employment, and education data directly from CareerOneStop and deliver it in your website’s own style to your own web customers.

Visit www.CareerOneStop.org/WebServices to get started.

coming soon

Look for updated employment projections data on all CareerOneStop and O*NET websites. The new data reflects new projections for 2010 to 2020.

Also, the scholarship opportunities in CareerOneStop’s Scholarship Search will soon be updated.

contact us

Subscribe to the quarterly newsletter, Connections, at www.CareerOneStop.org/Newsroom.

Please share your feedback with us or ask to be removed from the e-mail list by contacting:

CareerOneStop
E-mail: info@CareerOneStop.org
Toll Free: 1-877-348-0502
TTY: 1-877-348-0501

connections